THE YEARLY MEETING

QUAKERS RESOLVE TO STAND BY THEIR EVANGELISTIC SYSTEM.

Only One Baptism Countenanced and the Holy waost-Report from Earlham-London Epistle.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PLAINFIELD, Ind., Sept. 15 .- The question of the pilgrimage of Quakers to Plainfield is now no longer a matter of expectation, but of positive fact. In crowds and year. The attendance at the already numbered by the thouwith a favorable condition of meeting at Bloomingdale, Ind., to revoluich a proposition should even Saturday, shortly after 8 o'clock, the large tent was filled with earnest worshipers. Revs. Nathan and Esther Frame had ence felt the presence of the spirit. With earnestness she declared that one could not be a real Quaker until filled with the Holy Ghost. If all the Yearly Meetings in this land could be swayed by the Holy Ghost, the grand work of George Fox would be but a spark in the great flame that would sweep this land. A dozen score of people arose in testimony to the experience of the "full blessing" in the Holy Gnost. An altar service followed, the first during the Year-ly Meeting this year, and a number pro-fessed definite blessing.

Since yesterday there have been some prominent arrivals. From Richmond there are present Timothy Nicholson, Rav. Allen Jay, President J. J. Mills, of Earlham College and Lorent Law. Jay, President J. J. Mills, of Earlham College, and Jonathan Baldwin. President Rosenberger, of Pennsylvania College, Iowa, came in this morning. Dr. Coffin, of California, is also in attendance, with many others of less public note. At the regular session of the yearly meeting the London general epistic was received by the clark, and 4,500 copies were directed to be printed and distributed as usual. A reference to and distributed as usual. A reference to the belief of Friends on the ordinances brought out the expression that the mem-bers should be baptized with the Holy Ghost so as to harmonize actual experience with the faith of the church. Rev. David Hadley, superintendent of the evangelistic work, presented the annual re-port, which showed the church to be in a althy state of advancement. There are places where series of meetings have been held. As a result there were 1,021 conversions and 1,016 renewals and accessions to the church, 787. The executive committee has received $1,448.39 and paid out mittee has received $1,448.39 and paid out $1,360.89. In the entire yearly meeting there have been collected for the evangelistic and pastoral work $13,312.53. The suggestion of the committee to group the local meetings into pastorates was indorsed by the meeting. This is a new but very desirable arrangement in the church, and Western Yearly Meeting has taken the initiative in this direction. About $530 was raised by subscription to aid the committee on evangelistic work the coming year.

George H. Moore, superintendent of Bible school and educational work, reported the condition of these departments. Reports were read from the academies at Vermillion Grove, Ill., Bloomingdale and Plainfield, showing the institutions to be in a good condition.

The Bible school report is as follows:

The Bible school report is as follows: Pupils enrolled, 8,486; Friends, 5,677; average attendance, 4,502; schools, 98; in normal class, 56; collections, $1,838.97.

From the educational report the following is taken: Number of Friends children between six and twenty-one years, 3.141; number in school, 2.745; number above the grammar grade, 400; number above the grammar grade, 400; number graduating from academies, 42; from college, 16; from professional schools, 7; number teaching, 53; number in college, 98. Mr. Moore was continued as general superintendent of the work the coming year Superintendents were appointed for each of the quarterly meetings.

The Earlham College reports occupied the attention of the meeting at the afterloon session to-day. From the report of President Mills, it appears that the en-163 were in the college department, 26 graduated in June, while the number in the biblical department was 23. In music sixty-eight were enrolled and in the art department forty-four. Of the total en-rollment 149 were Friends, distributed through eight yearly meetings. Sixteen States and Territories were represented. At present two graduates of the college are engaged as missionaries in Mexico, one in Indian Territory and one in Japan. President Mills makes a strong appeal for an increased enrollment of the college, so that its efficiency will not be marred by such financial papies as has existed the past year. The report of Treasurer Harkness shows that expenses the past year exceeded receipts only $389.73, but this

DR. CLARK'S GREAT WORK. Has Been a Leading Quaker Light for

Years in This Country.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal, RICHMOND, Ind., Sept. 15.-The conduct of the local Quakers toward Dr. Dougan Clark because he allowed himself to be baptised still continues to be much talked about, and the position that the Richmond Yearly Meeting will take toward the matter when it convenes on Sept. 26 is awaited with interest. As to what that action will no one has ventured a guess, and those of prominence in the church will not commit themselves on the point. It is very probable, however, that Dr. Clark will be relieved of his duties at Earlham College, as so far there have been no pupils enrolled under him, and he has no work whatever except to meet the senior class once a week in scripture. If the students of the college will not take work under him, to continue him in the position would be suicidal to the interests of the biblical institute, whch has just now become one of the chief features of the school. It cannot but seem strange to the public that such a man as Dr. Clark, aged, life, written in 1893, will serve to show the

Dr. Dougan Clark was born in Randolph county, North Carolina, May 17, 1828. In 1837 New Garden Boarding School, now Guilford College, was established, and at the opening of the institution Dougan Clark's parents were called to the superintendency, where they remained six years. At the age of eighteen he entered Friends' Boarding School, at Providence, R. I. where he spent two years. During this Westport, in Massachusetts, where he taught four months. He then returned to the scenes of his early life at New Garden and taught two years. In 1850 he entered Haverford Coilege, from which place he graduated in 1852, and in the same year married Sarah J. Bates, of Hanover coun-Carolina and remained three years. He the University of Maryland in Baltimore.
The following year he removed to Indiana and practiced his profession for eight years at Carthage and at Westfield, except that he spent the winter of 1860-61 at Philadelphia adelphia, and received the degree of doctor of medicine from the University of Pennsylvania with the class of 1861. Two years were spent in Indianapolis as a practicing were spent in Indianapolis as a practicing physician. In 1866 he was called to the chair of Greek and Latin in Earlham College, a position he filled for three years, when he resigned and removed to Richmond. He was recorded as a minister of the gospel in 1869, and immediately entered on that work.

His preaching marked an epoch in the spiritual progress of Indiana Yearly Meeting, and wherever he was heard he became popular.

The years from 1876 to 1879 were spent in travel. Great Britain, Ireland and France were visited. Shortly after his return he went to Cleveland, and remained as pastor of the Friends' Church for thirteen months. From the beginning of 1882 to the end of 1883 he was editor of the Gospel Expositor, a periodical especially devoted to the promulgation of holicess. The following year he was again elected professor of Latin and Greek in Earlham College, but with the establishment of the biblical institute in 1885. tablishment of the biblical institute in 1888 Dr. Clark was promoted to the leadership of the new department, a position which he has held up to this time. A successful teacher, a preacher whose ministry has been sanctioned by that infallible test-fruits; a Bible student, combining deep spirituality with literary accument he land spirituality with literary acumen, he la-bors, transfusing year by year some of his own vigorous personality into his pupils.

Nor is he revered only by the students of his own department. His chapel talks and occasional sermons elicit the interest, and are for the edification, of all the college community. A series of talks on prayer and another on the signification of the different books of the New Testament and the divine wisdom manifested in their arrangement, have been particularly instruc-tive. A recent sermon on the "Atonement" cleared obscurity by its exposition of this doctrine and convinced by its logic. His services in vacations have been in constant demand, and at conventions by the sea and on the mountain side to thoughtful inquirers he has expounded the way of God most perfectly.

One other phase of his work remains to be mentioned—the products of his pen. While traveling in England he wrote and published a book entitled "Offices of the Holy Spirit," and subsequently another of great practical value, which has been highly commended by evangelists, "Instructions to Christian Converts," and a third, "Holy Ghost Dispensation." The first and second named have been translated into Spanish by the Quaker missionaries in Mexico, and all are going in ministration further than his voice or personal presence can reach. most perfectly. his voice or personal presence can reach. He has also been a frequent contributor to various periodicals, chiefly those devoted to the doctrine and experience of holiness. A number of years ago Dr. Clark was at Philadelphia, and a lady friend there gave him $300 for starting the biblical institute. The first year $45 was added to the $300, and that was all he received for teaching. Objection was made to his teaching there because he was associated with Updegraff, hence an article was drawn up for him to sign to the effect that he would not teach baptism, and he has always had this gag in his mouth. Three years ago, at the church here, $140 was raised for him; two years ago $80, and last year $140, all that that could be raised in one of the wealthiest denominations in the city. His salary all told, for both teaching and preaching, only amounts to about $500. Dr. Clark, i is stated on good authority, never preached a sermon on baptism, and doubtless never would have done so.

PURDUE PHOENIX LIKE

GINEERING BUILDING ASHES.

Experiments with the Locomotive Plant That Will Interest the Country-Stanford University.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 15 .- Purdue University opened under auspicious circumstances this week with an increased number of students. Those who saw only the bare walls of the rebuilt laboratories were surprised to find them beautifully equipped with finer apparatus and better machinery than ever before, and while the imposing front still lies in ashes, the working facilities of the school were found to be as good as ever before in its history, although the drawing and recitation rooms will be uncomfortably crowded. The machanical and civil engineering offices are installed in the basement of the main building, where the light is bad and ceilings low, but the professors are cheerful and courageous, with plenty of faith in the ultimate generosity of the State and Tippecanoe county. The locomoattached to a newly designed dynamometer which measures its draft to one-fourth of an ounce, being the cleverest thing of the kind in the world. The locomotive plant is being got in readiness for the experimental work of the American Association of Master Mechanics, who will this year spend $10,000 in laboratory tests of locomotives, all at Purdue. These tests are possible no where else, and it is expected of the plant, will superintend the tests, which will be conducted by the best engineers of the country. The generosity of friends has enabled the experimental engineering laboratory to acquire at less than half cost many valuable machines not before available for school work, among which may be named a new fiftyhorse power generator made by the Jenney Electric Company, of Indianapolis, a 150tion, a thirty-five horse power Atlas enengine, a laval steam turbine, manufactured only in Sweden, and the working parts of a Baldwin locomotive. These will enable advanced students to engage in a wide range of experiments.

The electrical equipment has been increased by a one-story brick addition to the dynamo room, more than doubling its capacity. Professor Smith, who for sev-eral years was the designer for the Peret company, of Springfield, Mass., is modeling the laboratory after the famous one in which he worked, and the change will accommodate easily the large number of students so badly crowded last year. Several street car motors, the gift of the Gen-eral Electric Company, have been mounted and arranged with brakes for laboratory testing. The plant will now be able to furnish light for the whole group of university buildings. In this laboratory also will be conducted this year many experiments with a view to improving the apments with a view to improving the application of electrical energy to heating, cooking and transit. Electricians anticipate the discovery of a method of a direct transformation of coal into electrical energy without the intervention of the steam engine, which is attended by heavy losses, and which, of course, depends on an incomplete combustion. Such a discovery will revolutionize manufacturing and commercial industries, and happy the man who

The department of biology increases its equipment by several of Bausch & Lomb's way of a new amphitheater lecture The wonder of it all is how President Smart can accomplish so much for the school with the very small allowance made by the great and rich State of Indiana— with an amount of money which in other States has accomplished nothing he has fostered a school which receives the high regineers all over this country to the neglect of the schools of their own States. Indiana should certainly provide ample means to sustain the reputation which her great workers have given her institutions. The faculty remains unchanged from last year, with the exception of the appointment of Frederich Morley, B. S., C. E., to the chair of civil engineering to succeed Prof. A. E. Phillips, resigned. Professor Morley is a graduate of the Michigan State Normal and of the University of Michigan. mal and of the University of Michigan, class of 1881, taking the degree of C. E. in 1890. He comes directly from the University of Michigan, where he has for four years been employed as instructor and lecwhile as United States government engiing in 1888-1889 been in charge of Mississippi river improvements. Professor Morley comes to his work with a wide experience, which makes him a valuable man, and much success is anticipated for him as head of his department at Purdue.

The registration of students shows representatives from Maine to Kansas. The local attendance seems to have been somewhat influenced by the financial depression, but the granting regulation of Purdue but the growing reputation of Purdue school has increased her non-resident attendance, notwithstanding more stringent Stenford University Plans. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15 .- President Jordan, of Stanford University, has given an outline of the improvements contemplated at the university by Mrs. Stanford as soon as the courts allow. Upon the distribution of the estate of the late Senator Stanford about $3,000,000 will pass to the university. The remainder of the estate will come under Mrs. Stanford's control, which she will devote to the institution during her life and bequeath to it at her death. A handsome library building, to cost $159,000, is what Mrs. Stanford wishes to commence in the spring. An exact duplicate of this building will be built 100 hundred feet away to be devoted to a museum and laboratory for the natural history department. These buildings will stand in partment. These buildings will stand in front of the present quadrangle, and with other buildings, including a monumental arch eighty-six feet high in the center, will constitute the facade, 1,000 feet long, of a group and will be part of the outer quadrangle, which will enclose the present one. Other buildings to be erected are a memorial chapel, a girl's dormitory to cost $250,000 and a chemical building to cost $50,000. It is proposed that the present facilities will be trebled during the next two years, providing accommodations for 2,500 students.

DEN OF OUTLAWS INVADED.

Rendezvous of the Dalton Gang Visited by a Deputy Marshal.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 15.-United States Deputy Marshal W. C. Smith has just returned from a trip that few men can make and come back alive. He has just returned from the rendezvous of the Bill Dalton gang, which was organized by the union of the Bill Cook gang and the remnant of Bill Dalton's old band. Smith went there alone trying to induce Bill Cook, who formerly worked as a member of Smith's posse, to abandon his life of outlawry. Cook assured him, however, that he proposed to go ahead in his career, as it was now too late to turn back. There were fifteen men in the gang, and they are now as strong as Bill Dalton's old band over was. Deputy Marshal Smith. old band ever was. Deputy Marshal Smith, who has the reputation of being one of the bravest of men in the service of the United States here, found the whereabouts of the band in a rather peculiar manner. He learned that one of the band had a sweetheart at Sapulpa, I. T., and ten days ago Smith went there to see her. After considerable persuasion he convinced ter that he was alone and prevailed upon her to pilot him to the camp of the bandits. One week ago Wednesday they left Sapulpa and on Sunday morning reached the camp. This is the first authentic news of the movement of the band since the Red Fork, I. T., express robbery.

Russell Sage and the Goulds Asked to Render an Accounting.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 .- Service of subpoena has been acknowledged by the parties to the suit begun in the United States Circuit Court against Russell Sage, George J. Gould, Edwin Gould, Helen Gould and Howard Gould, as executors of the late Jay Gould, by L. J. Morrison, attorney for John Quincy Adams, of Quincy, Mass., asking for an accounting of $11,000,000 worth of railway stock trust bonds. The papers in the suit, which was begun some time since, ask that Russell Sage and George Gould be relieved from the trusteeship of the consolidated mortgage of the Kansas Pacific Railway Company; that Sage and George J. Gould be enjoined from interfering with the trust assets, and that a receiver for such assets be appointed.

At the office of Dillon & Swayne, who are counsel for the Goulds, it was said that Mr. Adams had been induced to bring such a suit by a committee of persons who were seeking to make capital and obtain notoriety out of his name; that there was no merit in the suit, and that it lapsed with Mr. Adams's death, about a month ago, and has not been revived by his administrators or executors. Wants $5,000 Damages for Being Forced Out of Place by the K. of L.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 15.-The second trial of the suit of George W. Lucke against Clothing Cutters' and Trimmers' Assembly, 7507, Knights of Labor, for $5,000, was begun in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday. The Arst trial of the case was in the Superior Court last November and resuited in a verdict and judgment for the assembly, as Judge Ritchie took the case from the jury. Lucke, who is a skilled clothing cutter, was for six months employed by the New York clothing house, this city, at a salary of $30 per week. He alleges that owing to a threat made by the assembly that his retention would result in a general boycott against his employers fam, the latter dismissed him. Although willing, so he claims, to join the assembly, his application was denied on the ground that too many union men were already out of work. The assembly maintains that Lucke did not properly apply for memberahip. The case will be continued Monday.
